

OGDEN MAN SAYS HE SUFFERED FOR SIXTEEN YEARS

Takes Tanlac and Says He Now Feels Like a Brand New Man.

Here is another instance of the remarkable reconstructive powers of Tanlac, the medicine that is accomplishing such surprising and gratifying results in Ogden. A. T. Rollow, who lives at 2237 Adams avenue, and who has been a resident of Ogden for the past fifteen years, in describing his case and failure to heretofore find relief, said:

"I have had one of the most stubborn and serious cases of stomach trouble for the past sixteen years. It seems to me anyone could have and, especially, in the spring and fall of each year, my suffering was awful. I could eat nothing but what disagreed with me, causing gas, swelling and such awful pain that I could hardly endure it. I was constantly belching up sour, undigested food. I also had intestinal troubles, my blood seemed to be bad and my color was pale and sallow. My food seemed to do me a little of no good and I became very weak and extremely nervous. During all these years I tried in vain to find relief and kept getting worse until I was almost in despair. So about a year ago I underwent an operation for appendicitis, after which I failed to improve as I should. In fact, my stomach still worried me just the same and I kept going down hill. I spent a large sum of money trying to get well but seemed to get no benefit from it at all. I became listless and irritable, my nerves were all shattered and I about lost hope and had a feeling that nothing I could do or take would do me any good."

"But I was in so much misery that I was willing to try anything. So when I saw in the papers that McIntyre's drug store was selling Tanlac I got me a bottle at once, and much to my surprise and delight I began to feel better after my first few doses. I am now on my fourth bottle and can truthfully say I have gotten the results I never expected to get from anything. My appetite is fine, my food agrees with me and I'm just gaining ground right along. I really enjoy three square meals a day now and I'm feeling strong and well and full of life and energy. With my nerves in good shape I sleep soundly and get good rest every night. My blood must be in better condition as my color is much improved and Tanlac has just about made me into a new man. I really feel better and enjoy life more than I have in years and I am willing to tell everybody of the good results I have gotten from Tanlac."

EX-CONVICT FOR NEW LABOR BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Edward Morrell, who told the house labor committee he had been for sixteen years a convict, for years in solitary confinement in San Quentin prison, and once held in a straitjacket for 196 consecutive hours, all for holding up Southern Pacific trains, testified today in support of the Boohar bill to employ convict labor in production of war supplies.

Tells interesting story. Morrell's account of how the penitentiary officials tried to "break" him aroused interest and sympathy among the committee.

Incident to his support of the bill, Morrell told how dangerous semi-freeedom was, how it made men feel that they were "near but yet so far." While in San Quentin, he said, he learned sixteen years "trades" including how to open safes and pick pockets.

Morrell told the committee 200,000 prisoners were available to labor in the production of war supplies.

U. C. A. PROFESSOR IS GIVEN PRAISE

Under the caption, "A Successful Teacher," the current number of Pittman's Journal carries a flattering statement of the training and exceptional ability as a teacher of typewriting and stenography of J. D. Howell, in charge of the work in these lines at the Utah Agricultural college. According to this article, Mr. Howell has met with amazing success both in America, and in England, his native country, as a teacher and writer of stenography. In the same number appears a facsimile of some of Mr. Howell's shorthand notes, used as model work.

Mr. Howell, who uses and advocates most strongly the phonetic style of stenography, has trained many successful stenographers for Utah and the west.

FIRE DESTROYS A TELEGRAPH BUILDING

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 1.—Fire swept through what is known as the Old Canadian Pacific Telegraph building here early today. One Chinaman refused to jump into the life nets from the top floor and so far as is known, was killed. Four firemen were on the roof when it caved in but escaped. Loss was estimated at $500,000.

PARABLE IS FROM SMILEAGE NEWS

Here is a parable taken from the "Smileage News" and should be thoroughly digested by that class of the stay-at-homes who have "grown weary" of war donation campaigns. The soldier threaded his weary way back to the colonel's dugout. He had been in half a dozen skirmishes with the enemy in as many weeks. He was still intact but scratched and wearied from crawling through barbed wire and in and out of shell craters.

He entered the dugout and saluted with click of heels and hand to cap. "Colonel," he said, "I think I will have to quit. The battles are getting to be so many. It's rather too much of a good thing. I have given about all I can of time and strength and blood to this war. I am going home."

No; the incident didn't happen. But why shouldn't it? There are lots of civilians here at home turning down such appeals as the Red Cross and the Liberty Loans because "the calls are so many."

A proper committee will call upon you within the next few hours, or days, to sell you a "Smileage Book." Purchase and purchase like a red-blooded American. The committee-men are not canvassers—they are patriots. And recollect, too, that while you are contributing your pennies, the boys in France and those in the cantonments are getting ready to contribute their lives to civilization and to world freedom.

FRANCE TO AID FRIEND NATIONS

Bill in Discussion in Chamber of Deputies Would Authorize Large Advances.

PARIS, Thursday, Jan. 31.—Discussion of a bill in the chamber of deputies authorizing advances to the Allied and friendly nations. Deputy Albert Grodet pointed out that these advances amounted to 400,000,000 francs, bringing the total advances to 6,621,000,000 francs and asked the government's intention regarding the Russian coupons. He said that the French government already had paid 2,000,000 francs to French holders of Russian bonds, thus favoring them over the holders of bonds in other countries where Russian coupons had not been paid since the beginning of the war.

Financial Minister Klotz replied that the financial actions taken were independent of any regime in Russia although the Allies were discussing the question of the Russian coupons. Meanwhile, he said, France would pay the February coupons as it had paid those falling due in January.

The bill was passed by a vote of 362 to 117, the Socialists opposing the measure.

THIRTY-FIVE STARS IN SERVICE FLAG OF LOCAL OFFICE HAS TWO BOYS IN THE SERVICE OF THE COUNTRY

When the Ogden office of the United States forestry service completes its service flag, it probably will lead any one organization in the west for the number of patriots now helping Uncle Sam.

The records of the office show that the service flag will contain thirty-five stars. The total represents the entire district, but the entire district has central headquarters in the Ogden forestry building. It is a list that extends into every department of the United States fighting forces. Here is the complete roster:

Jack Albana, 20th engineers, American university, Washington, D. C. Tura M. Aldous, United States reserves, Fort Douglas, Salt Lake City. M. B. Baldenburg, 10th engineers, American expeditionary force in France.

John B. Barr, 10th engineers, American expeditionary force in France. Jesse L. Bedwell, 2nd Idaho, U. S. army, American Lake, Tacoma, Wash. Miller S. Benedict, 10th engineers, Co. D, France.

Fred H. Betts, address unknown. Vern A. Bird, national army, American Lake, Tacoma, Wash. H. A. Chadderton, national army, American Lake, Tacoma, Wash. James Bruce, address unknown. Windsor G. Cox, address unknown. Talmadge D. Cowen, 20th engineers, American university, Washington, D. C.

Byron F. Crookston, 20th engineers, American university, Washington, D. C. J. F. Dubaur, 10th engineers, Co. F, France.

Earl H. Franklin, address unknown. John Gilman, 10th engineers, Co. E, France.

E. Morgan Pryse, 10th engineers, regular headquarters, France.

Howard J. Rogers, address unknown. Clarence A. Russell, address unknown.

Earl C. Sanford, 10th engineers, Co. B, France.

Frank H. Thomas, 10th engineers, Co. B, France.

H. C. Williams, 10th engineers, Co. C, France.

Herman Work, 10th engineers, Co. F, France.

Albert Griffith, 20th engineers.

The response and showing being made by the Ogden district of the United States forestry service is gratifying to Uncle Sam, and particularly gratifying to the members of the service. Those in the forestry service are getting quick calls for duty at the French front. Some of the Ogden district soldiers were in the recent mix-up with the Boche when they threw away their equipment and gathered in a bunch of rifles and helped the British beat back a Teuton raid.

While they are fighting in France and preparing to fight by training in American cantonments, their associates back home are taking proper care of them. The Ogden offices alone have sent scores of packages of various kinds to the "boys in France" and otherwise are lending them every cheer and encouragement.

Bakers Contending For Eight-cent Loaf

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 1.—"If we are forced to sell bread at 7½ cents a loaf I shall turn over the keys of my plant to the government to operate or shall close down entirely," is the announcement of Jay Burns, president of a large bread-making concern and former president of the Bakers' national organization. This is understood to represent the general position of Nebraska bakers.

Omaha bakers have been charging 8 cents a loaf at wholesale and State Food Administrator Wattles is sending them questionnaires concerning their business on which to decide this price is necessary to the profitable conduct of their business.

"This war has not thoroughly permeated America as yet. When the nation begins hearing casualty reports in which Americans are killed, it will become a different story. It will be lucky for the Kaiser if he yields before the United States becomes genuinely aroused."

That was the statement of N. A. Herrick, a resident of Delta, Utah, whose service flag suspended in the window of his home has two stars attached. Mr. Herrick's two boys, Ralph Herrick, 22, and Carl Herrick, 26, are with Uncle Sam's fighting forces. Ralph is chief mechanic of his division of the ambulance corps now in training at Allentown, Pa., and the latter, also in the ambulance corps, is stationed at Camp Lewis. Mr. Herrick arrived yesterday for a short visit at the home of Police Chief T. E. Browning, a brother-in-law.

"The time has about arrived when the American soldiers now in France will get into action," he continued. "Then the war will be brought to the firesides with a degree of seriousness not included in the list of foodstuff and fuel economies. Some of the homes of necessity will be affected more vitally. I also am of the opinion that when our American boys start toward Berlin, the Kaiser and his hordes will have the conflict carried into their territory. The American soldier has never yet failed to accomplish what he has started out to accomplish—his fighting average is 100 per cent."

MANY WOMEN SERVING AS EXECUTIVES IN RED CROSS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1.—According to a canvass of the fourteen division offices of the American Red Cross, 150 out of 255 executives, or 59 per cent, are women. These figures apply only to those holding important executive positions in division offices, and do not include chapter officials. The canvass further shows that 56 per cent of all executives are fulltime volunteers, serving without remuneration.

The division form of organization has been in effect only since the appointment of the Red Cross war council, and was found necessary because of the tremendous growth of the activities and operations of the Red Cross brought about by the war. The work of millions of Red Cross members is now directed by the division officers, which are the intermediaries between national headquarters and the several thousand Red Cross chapters scattered throughout the United States and foreign countries. Prior to the establishment of geographical divisions, the operation of the Red Cross was centralized at national headquarters, and the only women in the headquarters organization were three in the nursing bureau, and one who was a member of the central committee. Since the appointment of the war council this number has been increased to twelve, and Miss Elizabeth H. Hoyt has been appointed assistant to the general manager. There also is a Woman's Advisory committee of eleven members, and a Woman's Advisory committee and Naval auxiliary to the war council, consisting of fifteen members. Recently there have been established about twenty-five institutes of home service, which are training schools for Red Cross home service workers, who will assist families of soldiers and sailors. In each of these institutes are two executive positions, and the number of incumbents is practically evenly divided between men and women. These have not been included in the above figures.

"In the selection of officials to conduct the various activities," said Harvey D. Gibson, general manager, "the policy has been to obtain the most effective available person with the best qualifications for that particular work. These appointments have been made regardless of politics, sex or religion."

FINLAND SITUATION IMPROVES

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The situation in Finland is more re-assuring, according to the latest reports received at the Finnish legation at Stockholm and transmitted by the correspondent of the Times. The Red guards have been disarmed, or are willingly surrendering their arms all over the country. The revolutionists still hold Helsingfors, the capital.

A Helsingfors dispatch of Wednesday's date says the diet and the legitimate government are being prevented by the revolutionists from exercising their duties.

The dispatch reports that a delegation from sympathizers among the people with the Bolsheviks delivered an address of cordial greeting to the Bolshevik government in Helsingfors assured it of solidarity "in the common struggle against capitalism."

The foreign governments which recognized the independence of Finland are said to have been notified by the revolutionists of the change in government brought about by the revolution.

The White guard, it is announced, has taken the town of Tavastehus, 60 miles northeast of Helsingfors. Strikes continue in Helsingfors and the revolutionary government is said to fomenting similar outbreaks in several other districts.

Tacoma (Wash.) Steam Engineers' Union has secured contracts with all wooden shipyards.
